PREFACE.

THE preparation of this our first volume of the FLOYD COUNTY DIRECTORY has not been without much solicitude on our part in the desire we have felt to produce a work as perfect as possible in all its details. How far we have succeeded, we leave our patrons to judge.

Although we do not expect the book will be found free from errors, yet, if after a thorough and impartial examination it receives the approval of those who gave encouragement by their patronage, we shall feel amply repaid for our exertions to make it worthy of their commendation, and in future editions, shall strive to merit a continuance of the confidence extended to us by the Citizens of this growing City.

All who aided our undertaking in their efforts to furnish subject matter for the pages of this book, and by their patronage or otherwise, we tender our sincere thanks and good wishes.

SKETCH OF FLOYD COUNTY.

Floyd County is bounded on the north by Clark and Washington Counties, east by Clark County and the Ohio River, west by Harrison and south by Harrison Co. and Ohio River, and contains five townships, viz: New Albany, Greenville, Lafayette, Georgetown and Franklin.

Floyd County was organized out of Harrison and Clark Counties in 1819, the townships, then but three in number, being laid off and their boundaries defined, by a Board of County Commissioners appointed by Governor Jonathan Jennings, on the 8th day of February of that year. This Board of Commissioners consisted of Charles Paxon, Clement Nance, jr., and Jacob Peirsol.

From the records of the proceedings and acts of these Commissioners we propose to condense such particulars as we may deem of interest to our readers, and as will give those who now live in this thickly populated and wealthy county, some idea of its early history.

"At a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners for the County of Floyd begun and held in New Albany, State of Indiana, at the house of Mr. Seth Woodruff, agreeably to law, this 8th day of February, 1819—present, Clement Nance, jr., and Jacob Peirsol.

"Ordered, that all that part of Floyd County beginning at the mouth of Falling Run—running with the line which formerly divided the counties of Harrison and Clark, to the top of the knobs; thence northeasterly with the meanders of the same to the line which divides Floyd County and Clark; thence with said line southeast to Silver Creek, thence with said creek to the Ohio river; thence down said river to the place of beginning, be set apart for one township in said county, to be known and designated by the name of New Albany township; and that the elections for said township be held in New Albany, at the house of Seth Woodruff, Esq.

"Ordered, that all that part of Floyd County lying above the road and north of the Knobs leading from New Albany to Vincennes, until it strikes or intersects the County line, form one township, to be known and designated by the name of Greenville township; and that the elections for said township be held at the house of John Kearnes.

"Ordered, that the residue or remainder of said County which has not heretofore been laid off, form one other township, to be known and designated by the name of Franklin township; and that the elections for said township be and the same is hereby ordered to be held at the house of Mr. John Bowman, in said township."

It was ordered that Seth Woodruff be appointed Inspector of elections in New Albany township; James McCutcheon, sen., Inspector in Greenville township, and Jonathan Slythe Inspector in Franklin township. These were the first Inspectors of elections in Floyd County. They were appointed to serve for the term of one year.

The Board ordered the Sheriff to call an election, to be held on the 23d of February, 1819, for the purpose of electing three Justices of the Peace in New Albany township; two in Greenville township, and two in Franklin township. On the same day the Board elected James Scribner Treasurer of the County, he being the first person to hold that office in Floyd County.

On the 9th of February, 1819, the Board again met. Isaac Stewart was appointed "Lister" for the County for the year 1819. Caleb Newman was appointed Superintendent of school section number 16, in township 3, south of range 5 east. Thomas Pierce was appointed to the same office for section 16, township two, south of range six east. Stephen Beers and Charles Woodruff were appointed overseers of the Poor for New Albany township; Elijah Cresswell and Gilbert Budd were given the same appointment for Franklin township; and Semacl Kendall and Frederick Leatherman were appointed overseers of the poor for Greenville township. Fence Viewers were appointed as follows: New Albany township, Jeremiah Jacobs, Josiah Akin, and Gabriel Poindexter; Franklin township, Jacob Yenawine, Joseph Burton, and Thomas Smith; Greenville township, John Irvin, David Edwards, and Isaac Wood.

Samuel Kendall was on the same day appointed "Supervisor, until next May term, of all the public roads passing through Floyd County," and it was ordered that "all the hands in said County assist the said Supervisor in opening and keeping said roads in repair."

February 10th, the following order was passed by the Commissioners: "Ordered, that the tavern keepers within the county of Floyd observe in their taverns the following rates, to-wit, for the term of one year: Breakfast 31½ cents; dinner 37½; supper 25; peach or apple brandy and gin 18½ cents per half pint; whiskey 12½ cents per half pint; wine per pint 87½; spirits per half pint 37½; lodging per night 12½; corn or oats, per gallon 12½; stabling and hay one horse for a day or night 37½; stabling and hay, one horse, for a day and night 62½."

The Board then drew a Grand Jury for the Circuit Court, which was to convene on the 10th day of May. They also appointed Joseph Green and Joseph W. Green constables for New Albany township.

Jacob Garrettsen was appointed supervisor of so much of the State road generally known by that name, which leads from the "Cut Ford" on Silver Creek to the top of the Knobs, and that all the hands within one and a half miles on each side of said road assist in keeping the same in repair."

On the 4th day of March, 1819, a special meeting of the Board of Commissioners was held at the house of Seth Woodruff, in New Albany, to determine the location of the county seat. At this meeting a bond in $25,000 penalty was given by John Eastburn, Seth Woodruff, Charles Woodruff, Joel Scribner, Jas. Scribner, and Smith & Paxon, to the County Commissioners conditioned as follows: "That if the above bonded parties shall, within four months of the date hereof, pay to the Commissioners of said County the sum of $2,250; and in eight months from this date a like sum of $2,250; and in twelve months from this date a like sum of $2,250; and deed or cause to be deeded, in fee simple, to said county of Floyd, four lots in the town of New Albany, lying at the corners of Lower and Upper Spring streets, or where they unite in State street, each lot being one hundred and twenty feet square, two of which are to be disposed of for the benefit of said County, and the other two to be retained and known as the Public Ground for said County, for the purpose of erecting a Court House and other public buildings thereon, for said county, then the above obligation to be void, otherwise to remain in full force. This obligation was signed by the above named parties, and witnessed by John Vawter, William Hoggart, and Henry Ristine. The three last named persons were "specially appointed by the Indiana Legislature as Commissioners to fix the permanent seat of Justice for the County of Floyd."

The conditions above specified were complied with, and on the 4th day of March, 1819, the county seat was located at New Albany. For their services in locating the county seat the Commissioners were allowed as follows: John Vawter $27; William Hoggart $18; and Henry Ristine $24, all of them at the rate of three dollars per day.

At a special meeting of the Board held at the house of Seth Woodruff, in the town of New Albany, on the 19th day of April, 1819, the township lines were more clearly defined by designating the sections and ranges which they traversed. There were present at this meeting, for the first time, all the County Commissioners, to-wit: Charles Paxon, Clement Nance, jr., and Jacob Piersol.

At this meeting a contract was let to Seth Woodruff "to build a jail to be set on the Public Square in the town of New Albany, agreeably to the following dimensions: Said jail to be twelve feet square, with a shingled roof thereon; to be built of logs, hewed one foot square; seven feet high between the floors; the floors and ceiling to be of hewed logs, one foot thick, and pinned down to the timbers; for which he is to receive fifty dollars out of the County Treasury. And it is further ordered that the said Woodruff be, and is hereby appointed, to make a good and sufficient door, two feet square, lined with iron, for the above mentioned jail." The jail was built and located according to contract, and this was the first jail in Floyd county.

On the 17th of May the Board held a stated meeting. William S. Hobson was appointed Constable in New Albany township, and gave bond in $500, with Joel Scribner and Seth Woodruff as his securities. John V. Buckirk was also appointed a Constable in New Albany township. Patrick Leyden was appointed a Constable for Franklin township. Syrenens Emmons was appointed a Constable in Greenville township. An order was also issued for the election of an additional Justice of the Peace in Greenville township.

On the same day the "County Lister made his return of the County levy for taxation. Dr. Asahel Clapp was appointed "Overseer of the Poor in the township of New Albany, in place of C. Woodruff, who is absent."

Jacob Bence was appointed supervisor of some half dozen roads in Franklin township. William Bailey, Thomas Smith, Michael Swartz, Andrew Long, John Merriwether, Samuel Miller, sr., Wm. L. Hobson, John Scott, David Edwards, Jacob Frederick, John Lopp, and Maurice Morris were also appointed Road Supervisors in their respective townships.

On the 18th of May, 1819, the Board passed the following order: "Ordered, that the following rates of tax be paid for State purposes for the present year: for every one hundred acres of first rate land, one dollar; for every one hundred acres of second rate land, eighty-seven and a half cents; for every one hundred acres of third rate land, sixty-two and a half cents. And for every bond servant above the age of 12 years (other than an apprentice) three dollars.

"Ordered, that the following rates of taxes be levied for county purposes: for every one hundred acres of first rate land, fifty cents; for second rate land forty-three and three-fourth cents; for third rate land, thirty-one and one-quarter cents per acre; every horse thirty-seven and a half cents; every stallion, once the rate they stand at by the season; each tavern in the town of New Albany twenty dollars; all others in the county, fifteen dollars; the ferry in New Albany twenty dollars; Oatman's ferry fifteen dollars; Newman's ferry five dollars; town lots fifty cents on each one hundred dollars valuation."

Paxon & Co's ferry in New Albany was declared a public ferry. David Edwards was appointed school Superintendent in place of Thomas Pierce. The following rates of ferriage were established by the Board: "For each four-wheel wagon or carriage 50 cents, every horse of said wagon or carriage, 25 cents; two wheel carriage or cart, 37½ cents; horse of said carriage 25 cents; single horse, mule, or ass, 12½ cents; person, except a driver with team, 12½ cents; every head of neat cattle 12½ cents; every sheep, hog or goat, 6½ cents; barrel of flour or liquor, etc., where taken over without the carriage or wagon, 12½ cts." The Clerk was required to furnish each ferryman with a copy of these rates.

Seth Woodruff, Snimmers P. Gillman, and Basil Hoyt were licensed to keep tavern in New Albany.

The Clerk was ordered to procure weights and measures for the County of Floyd. All the ferries in the County were made public ferries. Seth Woodruff was paid fifty dollars for building the jail, and thirteen dollars for making the jail door.

The next meeting of the Board was held at the house of Seth Woodruff, commencing on the 9th day of August, 1819. At the session some thirty roads, principally neighborhood, were ordered laid out. David M. Hale and R. R. Stewart were licensed to keep tavern in New Albany. It was ordered that a fence be built "fifty feet square, out of good white oak timber, five feet in height, for a public pound," to be located "on one of the public squares on which the jail now stands." Charles Paxon was appointed to superintend the building of this pound, and an allowance of twenty dollars was made to pay for it. Thomas Sinex was appointed Pound Keeper.

The Board met again at the same place on the 8th of November, 1819. At this session what is now known as the "river road" was laid out. Isaac Stewart was allowed twenty-five dollars for his services in making an assessment or "listing" the county.

The County Treasurer, on the 10th of November, submitted his report of the receipts and disbursements by the county treasury for the year 1819. The receipts were $251.11; the disbursements $208.97, leaving a balance in the hands of the Treasurer of $42.14. The total amount of the tax levy for 1819 was $803.29, the Sheriff being the tax collector. Thomas Sinex was ordered "to place a pad-lock, hasp and staple upon the gate of the County Pountil, at a cost not to exceed one dollar, Wyatt P. Tuley was licensed to keep a tavern in New Albany.*

EARLY SETTLEMENT.—Dr. McMurtry, in his "Sketches of Louisville," published in 1819, says that the first white man who visited Kentucky was James McBride, a Virginian, who entered the State in 1754, and traversed a large extent of its territory. Capt. Thomas Bullitt, in 1773, was the first man who visited the falls of the Ohio, and made a survey of the Territory of Kentucky, for settlements, from the neighborhood of the falls as far down as Salt river. A number of men accompanied him to assist in the surveys, and they pitched their tents on the present site of Louisville, near Beargrass Creek. Bullitt did not live to found a permanent settlement, however, dying the same or the succeeding year that he undertook his surveys.

The first permanent settlement around the falls of the Ohio, was made by six families, who accompanied the army of (then) Col. George Rogers Clarke as far as the falls on his expedition for the capture of Vincennes, Kaskaskia, and other British stations, North of the Ohio. These families, Dr. McMurtry says, were James Patton, Richard Chenoweth, John Tuel, William Smith, John McMann and one other, of whose name there is no record. They settled on Corn Island in the spring of 1778, cleared off a field and planted it in corn. In the fall of the same year they removed to the Kentucky shore, opposite the little island, and erected their log cabins, the first ever built around the falls of the Ohio.

Louisville was laid out as a town in 1780, by William Pope, an act being passed by the Virginia Legislature in May, 1780, granting to John Floyd, Stephen Trigg, George Slaughter, John Todd, William Pope, George Merriwether, Andrew Hines, James Sullivan, and Marshall Brashears on thousand acres of land "for establishing the town of Louisville, at the falls of the Ohio," "to be by them laid off into lots of half an acre each, with convenient streets and public lots."

The first settlements made in the neighborhood of the falls in Indiana Territory were made in Clark county at Clarksville, Springville, (the first county seat of Clark county), Jeffersonville and Charlestown. No settlements were made below Clarksville, in what is now Floyd county, until November 5th, 1804. Prior to this time, however, several families had moved from Kentucky into what is now Harrison county, settling below Knob Creek and in the neighborhood of Corydon. The first white woman that ever crossed the knobs below New Albany, was the daughter of Clement Nance, sen., and afterwards the wife of Patrick Shields. This, as near as we can ascertain, was about the year 1800 or 1801—we are not able to fix the precise date. She was a woman of great courage and force of character, and was one of the most worthy and highly esteemed of the pioneer mothers of this section of Indiana. She was often compelled, before as well as after her marriage, to seek refuge from the savages when they were out on their murderous and thieving raids, with her neighboring women, by fleeing across the Ohio river to the settlements near Louisville. She was many years ago called to rest from her labors; but her many virtues are yet cherished by all those who were so fortunate as to know her, and we have often heard her name mentioned in connection with the most heroic as well as the most philanthropic acts.

The first white settler in what is now Floyd county, was Robert Lafollette, father of Judge D. W. Lafollette, of New Albany. Robert Lafollette was a Kentuckian, and on the 4th day of November, 1804, was married in that State. On the next day after his marriage, accompanied by this young wife, he crossed the Ohio river into the then Indiana Territory, and the same night pitched his camp about three-quarters of a mile east of the mouth of Knob Creek, a location that he had selected prior to his marriage.

Here he remained, living in his camp, until he had chopped down the trees, cut the logs into proper length, cleared of a small spot of ground, and erected his humble log cabin,—the first house built within the present limits of Floyd county,—and then removed from this temporary tent into the cabin.

This house was built in the most primitive style. It was one story high, and contained but one room. The cracks between the logs were "chinked" with small slabs of wood split from logs, and then daubed with a mortar made of clay. There was no window in it, for at that time a pane of eight by ten window glass, that now sells at five cents, could not be bought for less than seventy-five cents, and the early settlers were too poor to indulge in so costly a luxury. A large fireplace, extending half the width of one end of the house, and from which a chimney made of sticks and daubed with mud conducted the smoke, supplied the place now usurped by our modern health-destroying stoves, and answered the double purpose of furnishing heat by day, and heat and light by night. Even tallow candles could not be afforded, except by a few, in those early days. The roof was of clapboards, split from the oak timber that composed the principal growth with which our hardy pioneers were surrounded; and as nails were then worth sixty-two and one half cents per pound, their purchase was impossible, and heavy poles were laid upon the clapboards and pinned with wooden pins into the house logs at either end. This made an excellent roof.

In the way of furniture Mr. Lafollette had nothing beside some bedding, a few rude cooking utensils, and a scanty supply of cupboard ware. For a bedstead holes were bored into the logs on the inside of the house, and long wooden pins driven into them. Upon these pins were placed two or three "punches" hewn out by Mr. Lafollette, and on these "punches" the bed was placed. This rude bedstead, thus improvised, was quite common among the early settlers of Indiana, and upon such bedsteads our fathers and mothers have passed hundreds of nights in the sweetest, most invigorating rest after the toils of a hard day's labor. Thus slept Robert Lafollette and his wife "many a time and oft," and on such a bed their first-born was ushered into being; and though his birth-place was so humble he now lives honored and respected by all who know him. For a table, plain boards were fastened upon wooden legs with wooden pins. No leaves were required, and but two or three narrow and short boards were necessary for a top, and the table was complete. Wooden benches supplied the place of chairs, and a few wooden shelves laid upon wooden pins driven in the logs, answered for cupboard, bureau, and clothes press. The floor was of "punches." This was the home and its furnishings of the first settler within the present limits of Floyd county. It was finished and first occupied sixty four years ago, next December.

Mr. Lafollette's nearest white neighbors at this time lived about ten miles below him in Harrison county, and twelve miles above him, at Clarksville, opposite the falls. He brought with him from Kentucky a few sacks of corn, and getting out of meal about Christmas he took a small sack of the grain in a canoe and paddled his little vessel and grist up to Tarascon's mills at the falls. But a few hours after arriving at the mill, and before his corn could be ground, an immense field of ice from above began moving down the river over the falls. The ice continued to increase in amount, and for twelve days completely blockaded the river, and rendered it impossible to cross. All this time Mr. Lafollette was detained at the mill.

During his absence Mrs. Lafollette's scanty store of provisions gave out, and for five or six days the only food she had to subsist upon was parched corn. In those days the only meats used was what was afforded by the wild game, and this was easily killed as it was required. Mr. Lafollette has frequently stated that he could almost any morning kill all the game he needed in half an hour within fifty yards of his house. Bears, deer, wolves, panthers, and wild-cats were numerous in the woods around him, and the hills back from Knob Creek seemed to be a favorite resort for these wild animals. Bears and wolves not unfrequently came within his enclosure and close up to his cabin door, and so plenty were wild turkeys and so tame, that he often shot them from his own door yard.

This section of the State was at that early day frequently visited by wandering gangs of Shawanese and Miami Indians. Mr. and Mrs. Lafollette had for their nearest neighbors a small party of Shawanese. They lived on the most amicable terms with these Indians, and whenever the marauding Miamis and Shawanese came from White river and the Wabash into the white settlements along the Ohio, for the purposes of robbery and murder, Mr. Lafollette was at once informed of the danger by his friendly Indian neighbors, and his wife would be sent over the river into Kentucky for safety, while he would join the expeditions of the settlers above and below him to aid in driving back the savage foe.

Mr. Lafollette continued to reside where he first settled until the division lines between the counties of Harrison and Clark had been definitely run, and Charlestown fixed as the county seat of Clark county. He resided in the limits of Clark county, and paid his proportion of the special tax levied to build the first court house at Charlestown. A few years later he removed into Harrison county, and there paid a special tax to build the court house at Corydon. When Floyd county was organized in 1819, he was thrown into this county, and when the court house was built at New Albany, he paid his proportion of the tax levied to pay for it. He thus, in the course of fourteen years, paid special taxes to build three court houses.

Mr. Lafollette continued to reside on the farm to which he removed from near Knob Creek until his death, which occurred in January, 1867. At the time of his death he was eighty-nine years old, and had resided within the territory of what is now Floyd county for sixty-two years and two months. His wife died about one year earlier, at the age of seventy-nine, and sixty-one years after her settlement here.

In all the relations of life Robert Lafollette was a good man. He was conscientiously religious; his house was for many years a preaching place for the Regular Baptists; and the pioneer ministers of that denomination, as well as of all others, always made his home a stopping place, and ever found there a cordial welcome. He subscribed for the first newspaper ever published in Floyd county, and continued to take a county paper up to the day of his death. He is now, with the companion of his youth's pioneer life, enjoying the rewards of a well-spent life "in that house not made by hands—eternal in the heavens."

Mr. Lafollette's family was followed into this section by Clement Nance, Sen., and his family, who settled on what is known as the "Oatman Farm," a few miles below New Albany, on the river road. It was his daughter, who was afterward married to Patrick Shields, that was the first white woman that ever crossed the "Knobs." He lived to a ripe old age, and was always actively identified with the interests of the county, holding a number of important and responsible offices, all of which he filled with honor.

The Oatman family followed that of Nance, from the best information we can glean, shortly after. An old settler tells us a little love affair between Oatman and one of Mr. Nance's daughters, and what came of it. Oatman fell in love with Miss N., but for some reason his suit did not meet the favor of the father, and his visits to the young lady ceased.

Now, Nance had not taken the precaution to pre-empt his land when he "squatted" upon it; because he had to go to Vincennes, through an almost unbroken forest, to do so, and settlers were coming in slowly, and he did not fear that his "claim" would be "jumped."

Oatman found out that the land was not entered; and so determined if he could not get the girl he would the land. Accordingly, in company with John Paul, he quietly left for Vincennes one fine morning early in 1807, entered the land, and got the patent for it. At the same time John Paul entered and got the patent for all the land upon which the present city of New Albany now stands, except that lying above the "Grant Line."

On returning home Oatman produced his patent for the "Oatman Farm," and took possession of it. In consequence of this an ill-feeling always existed between Mr. Oatman and Mr. Nance. To say the least of it, Oatman's act was not a very gallant one.

The settlements now rapidly increased, particularly along the river bottom below the city, and in what are now Georgetown and Greenville townships. In March, 1812, Samuel Miller crossed the ferry, which landed in the woods at the foot of what is now Upper Fifth street, and settled on the Miller farm, one mile below the city on the Budd road.

At this time the only persons who lived within the present limits of New Albany, were James Mitchell and Martin Trueblood, the ferry-men, whose log cabin stood where the Conner house now stands, at the foot of Upper Fifth street; old man Trueblood, father of Martin, who had a small log mill on Falling Run creek, near the present depot of the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago railroad; a man named Magrew, whose cabin stood at the corner of Lower First and Water streets, on the site of the large warehouse of Capt. H. J. Reamer, and a man named March, whose cabin occupied a place near Trueblood's mill. March left soon after, and did not return.

Trueblood's little mill did not last long to grind the corn for the few settlers; as a flood in the creek in 1812 washed out the dam, and it was never repaired. A few of the logs of this old dam may yet be seen sticking out from the bank of the creek, in which they were imbedded over fifty-five years ago.

When Mr. Miller arrived here in 1812, the following persons lived on "the bottom," that is, on the river road between Middle Creek and New Albany: John Hickman, George Oatman, widow Oatman, John Oatman, Beverly Hurst, Joshua Wilson, and Jesse Wilson. George Oatman lived on what is now known as the Stoy farm, John Oatman on the Mrs. South farm, Beverley Hurst on the Collins farm, and the two Wilsons below, not far from Middle Creek. Joshua Wilson afterward bought George and John Oatman's farms, and Jesse Wilson bought Beverly Hurst's farm, and the two Wilsons built the brick house on the Collins farm, and the brick house on the Stoy farm, both being commenced in 1817, and finished complete in 1820. These were two of the first brick farm houses ever built in Floyd county, and both are now occupied and in excellent repair, though over fifty years old.

The news of the "Pigeon Roost Massacre," which occurred on the third of September, 1812, was received in this section of what was then Clark county, some thirty hours after its occurrence, and created much consternation among the settlers. All those who resided between Falling Run and Silver Creek, those who lived back toward the present sites of Greenville and Galena, and some of the settlers on the river below Falling Run, fled into Kentucky.

There were a number of others, however, who had become used to "Indian scares," as they were called, and these refused to run. Among the latter were the Lafollettes, the Millers, the Hickmans, the Nances, and the Oatmans. These determined to fight it out with the savages, if such they proved to be, if they visited the settlements in this vicinity. But some of them did not believe they were Indians, but white horse thieves and robbers, painted and disguised as Indians. Most of the men belonging to the families we have named accordingly set off for Jeffersonville, the rendezvous of the Clark county militia, to join in the pursuit of the murderers. The men and women left at home barricaded their houses as securely as possible, and prepared for defense.

There was, however, one woman in the neighborhood, Mrs. John Hickman, whose husband was away from home some twenty miles at mill. Mrs. Hickman was not willing to leave her house unprotected in case of a raid, and yet she feared to stay alone. There was but one room to the cabin, as in all other cabins in those days, and so she deemed it inmodest for her to stay all night alone in the house with a man in no ways related to her. In this dilemma she went to the cabin of Samuel Miller, and asked Nancy Miller to volunteer to stay all night with her and help guard the house.

It was now dark, but the brave woman agreed to go, and they both set out and soon reached Mrs. Hickman's cabin. The door and window were each closed and securely barricaded, and then Mrs. Hickman proceeded to the rifle rack, that necessary and always provided article of a pioneer's furniture. (This rack is made of a hooked stick, nailed to the side of the cabin logs, and in its forks the rifle-rests.) But when she reached up for the rifle, for it was dark in the house, she was frightened to find it gone. Her husband had taken it with him to the mill. But she did not faint and scream, as most women of the present day would have done, at discovering her calamity, but, instead, provided herself with the iron flax hackle and a butcher's knife. Mrs. Hickman took the flax hackle and Nancy Miller the knife, and during all that long night these two brave women sat in that darkened cabin in the woods, not knowing at what moment the yells of the savage foe would call them to action. Few men would have shown such bravery; for in those days it was not an uncommon thing for wandering gangs of Indians to sneak slyly into a neighborhood and commit deeds of violence and even bloodshed. The savages did not make their appearance, however; but the bravery displayed by the women made Mrs. John Hickman and Nancy Miller the heroines of the neighborhood.

Horse stealing, from about 1810 to 1817, was followed in this part of Indiana by a band of men regularly and well organized. These men made an occupation of this species of robbery, and came to be a terror to the settlers. In 1810 two of these horse thieves were caught near the present upper limits of this city, by a party of settlers from Clark county, whom they had robbed. As the courts were seldom held, and the few laws existing were not very operative, a council was held by the captors to determine what should be done with their prisoners. The proof was positive of their guilt, for the stolen horses were found in their possession, and a verdict was soon made up that they should suffer death.

The names of these thieves were Aveline and Morris. They begged piteously for their lives; but so many horses had been stolen, and the settlers had become so exasperated at their losses, for they were all poor, that no appeals moved them from their purpose. They were accordingly taken to a point on the west side of Silver Creek, opposite where the old Very mill used to stand, allowed one hour in which to prepare for death by prayer, and then shot and their bodies thrown into the stream, which was at that time very high. This was the first execution by Lynch law that ever took place within what are now the limits of Floyd county. It had a most salutary effect, however, upon the horse stealing fraternity.

At another time, in 1813, a youth, aged about seventeen years, stole a horse from the Lafollette settlement near the Harrison county line. He was pursued and captured near Greenville. His captors stripped him, and then told him that in consideration of his youth they would only give him a little whipping. He was tied to a small tree with a bridle rein, his face toward the tree. His captors then cut them a dozen or more stout switches, and with these laid one hundred and ten lashes upon his bare back. The boy's name was Parrish, and he lived at Louisville. After the whipping had been ended he was unable to stand upon his feet, and was therefore lifted upon a horse by his executioners and held up until they reached the ferry at New Albany, upon which he was placed and sent over to the Kentucky side. He died before he reached Louisville.

A new plan of operations was now adopted by the horse thieves. They would swing a bridle and a rope or two around their necks and start out under pretense of hunting what they claimed to be their own strayed horses. Whenever they found a horse running at large they would "take him up;" and if pursuit was made and they were overtaken they would declare they thought the horse their own, as he answered exactly the description of the animal they were seeking. This plan worked well but a short time, however; and soon the settlers began to inflict vengeance upon these "horse hunters" to such an extent that it was absolutely dangerous for a man to go into a neighborhood with a bridle hanging upon his shoulders, unless he could bring some one to identify him as an honest man.

These instances of Lynch law by the most summary and speedy process, were not uncommon in the pioneer days of Indiana. Many will doubtless form a harsh opinion of the character for humanity of the early settlers on account of these occurrences. But when it is remembered that there were but few laws then in force, and few officers to enforce even these; when not a dozen courts were held in the entire Indiana Territory within the year, and those most frequently at remote points from the settlements; when there were no jails and but three or four organized counties in the Territory, they will see the necessity of making speedy and terrible examples of criminals, particularly of that class that was banded together to steal the horses of the settlers, and thus take from them their power to till the soil.

NEW ALBANY,

The seat of Justice for Floyd county, is situated on the Ohio river at the foot of the Falls, upon a high bench, above overflow, except by extreme high water, such as in 1832. Then, that portion forming the immediate bank of the river was inundated, but all the rest, forming the greater part of the city, was then, and always will be, entirely free from overflow. At the lower end of Main street a spur of the knobs overlooks the whole city and surrounding country, and would furnish a site for Water Works, of unsurpassed utility and general fitness. From this point the knobs recede in a North-easterly direction from the river, curving in the rear of the city and gradually retiring, they leave a scope of country ample for all the wants of a large population. On the line of State street these knobs are reached by a fine McAdamized road, at the distance of two and a half miles. The scenery from the points of these hills is grand and beautiful beyond description, and is well worthy the notice of travelers. The wide expanse of country, the winding Ohio, Jeffersonville on this side at the head of the falls, the city of Louisville above and on the other side, the broad fields behind it, with the river hills in the distance, forming a magnificent background to this picture, the busy city of New Albany in the foreground, before us, and under us the intervening slopes and fields, the densely wooded glens on either side, make the view one of rare and surpassing beauty, and of vast extent.

New Albany being at the foot of the falls, it was early seen that she possessed some natural advantages, in respect to the trade of the river below, which could not be held by her proud sister at the head of the falls, and on the other side of the river. And notwithstanding the many disadvantages incident to her close proximity to that wealthy and powerful city, whose shadow chilled, and perhaps stunted her growth for a time, yet she has gradually grown apace, gained strength, and developed her proportions. As a shipping point the advantages of New Albany have long been acknowledged, and since the completion of the New Albany and Salem Railroad to Lake Michigan, that branch of business has greatly increased.

This road gives her rare advantages, possessed by no other Western city. It passes directly through the whole State, and by its connections, Northern Indiana, Michigan, and Northern Ohio can be supplied with the products of the South, cheaper and sooner than by means of any other route. It also forms a main artery for carrying the products of the North to the best shipping point on the river. By means of the Ohio and Mississippi Road, New Albany is placed in easy communication with Southern Indiana and Illinois.

New Albany has been placed in excellent communication with the back counties by means of plank roads, several of which radiate into the interior, giving favorable opportunities for the transportation of produce at all seasons of the year. In short, having good wharves, accessible to the largest steamers the greater portion of the year, and good communication with a large extent of country, New Albany must greatly increase her business in the shipping line. She possesses all the advantages required by a Commercial city, and it is only necessary to present her claims to have them properly acknowledged.

EARLY SETTLEMENT.—On the 13th day October, 1813, Joel and Abner Scribner purchased the land on which the city of New Albany stands. The purchase was made of John Paul, and consisted of eight hundred and twenty-six and one-half acres. The Scribners paid for this tract of land eight thousand dollars. They proceeded immediately to plat the town of New Albany, and advertised the lots for sale. The following is a copy of their advertisement, which was published in hand-bill form:

*Among other early settlers besides those mentioned above, we have been able to gather the following names: Francis A. Hutcherson, from Kentucky, settled 1813; Daniel Seabrook, 1813; — Hopson, 1812; — McCleary, 1812; James Crook, 1813; John Jones, 1816; James McAfee, —; James R. Shields, 1817; Henry B. Shields, 1817; Pleasant E. Shields, 1817; David Holden, 1817; Green H. Niel, 1817; Howell Wells, 1817; Matthew Robinson, 1817; John Nicholson, 1810; Dr. Asa Clapp; — Graham.

NEW ALBANY.

This town is just laid out, with spacious streets, public squares, markets, &c., is situated on the bank of the Ohio River at the crossing-place from Louisville to Vincennes, about two miles below the falls, in the Indiana Territory, and affords a beautiful and commodious harbor. The beauty of the prospect is not surpassed by any in the Western country. The bank adjoining the river is high and not subject to inundations. At the distance of six hundred and sixty feet back from the bank is a second rise of about twenty feet, from which there is an extensive view up and down the river. There is a sufficient number of excellent and never failing springs for the supplying of any number of inhabitants.

These advantages, together with that of the country around being dry, and clear of any stagnant water, being sufficiently distant below the falls to avoid the fogs and any noxious exhalation arising therefrom in the warm season, and the winds generally blowing up the river at that time, are a sufficient reason to induce a belief of the healthfulness of the situation.

The advantages New Albany has in point of trade, are perhaps unrivalled by any town on the Ohio, as it is immediately below all the dangers which boats and ships are subject to in passing over the falls, and is the only eligible situation for a depot for all the exports and imports of a great part of the Territory, and may export and import while the river is low and the markets good, as well as when the water is high.

From the vast quantity of excellent ship-timber, the great abundance of iron ore within a few miles, and the facility with which hemp is raised, it is presumed this will be one of the best ports in the United States for the building of vessels as well as the loading them. The erection of a saw mill to go by steam is contemplated this fall, and a grist and flour mill next summer.

Lots will be sold at auction on the first Tuesday and Wednesday in November next. The terms of payment will be one-fourth ready money, and the remainder in three annual installments, to be secured by deed of trust, or otherwise. One-fourth part of each payment to be paid to the hands of trustees, (to be chosen by the purchasers), until such payments shall amount to five thousand dollars, the interest of which to be applied to the use of schools in the town for the use of its inhabitants forever.

Manufactories of iron, cotton, hemp, wool, &c., are much wanted, as is all kinds of mechanism.

THE PROPRIETORS.

New Albany, July 8, 1813.

According to announcement the sale took place on the first Tuesday and Wednesday in the following November. The deed, however, for the land upon which the town was platted was not made to the Scribners by John Paul until the 13th day of October, 1813.

The original limits of the town extended east and west from Upper Fifth to Lower Fifth streets; and north and south as follows: from the river to Spring street for all that portion below Lower First street; and from the river to Oak street for all that portion above Lower First. This was the regular plat. In addition, however, tiers of out-lots were laid off from Spring and Lower Fifth to the river and Lower Eighth. Another tier of out-lots was laid off from Upper Fifth to the Grant line, running on that line from Oak street to the river. These out-lots averaged from one to one and a half acres in size. All of them were long ago incorporated into the plat of the town, and the city limits now spread out beyond them for many squares, except on the river side.

The first lot sold by the Scribners, according to the records in the Recorder's office, was sold on the 15th day of November, 1813, to William B. Summers. It was lot nine, on Upper Main street, at the Southeast corner of Main and Pearl streets, now owned by Mrs. Lapsley. Its size was sixty by one hundred and twenty feet, and the price paid for it was two hundred and fifty dollars, "lawful money of the United States."

The second sale of lots was made to David Poor, six in number. The lots were located as follows: lot two, northwest corner of State and Water streets, now occupied by John Neubauer's store; lot six, northeast corner of Water and Lower First streets, now occupied by Charles Roose; lot two, Lower Market street, north side, from the alley to corner of Lower First street; and lots two, four and six, Lower First street, west side, from the Plummer property to the alley, between Main and Water streets. The price paid by Poor for these lots was seven hundred and twenty five dollars.

Although the unjust imputation of being an unhealthy location was attached to the place, it gradually increased in population, and on the 14th of July, 1839, was incorporated as a city by act of the General Assembly. The population, the following year, according to the census returns, was 4,226. The value of taxable property during the same year was $1,325,770. The population in 1850 was 8,181. Value of taxable property the same year, $1,813,401.

About this time the city received a new impetus from the near completion of the New Albany and Salem Railroad, and rapidly increased, both in population and wealth, so that in 1855 she had an estimated population of 18,000. The value of taxables that year was $4,776,925. Since then her population has gradually but surely increased, and at the commencement of the present year she had a population of about 22,000.

CHURCHES.—The first religious exercises ever held in this city or county was in 1815 and was held in a log hut, under the auspices of the Methodist denomination; not long afterward, however, the Presbyterians formed a society, of which Dr. Scribner wrote as follows:

"(On the 18th day of February, 1816, a church was organized at Jeffersonville, in the State of Indiana, (the members residing in that place and New Albany,) by the Rev. James McGready, a missionary under commission from the General Assembly, which church was to be known by the name of the 'Union Presbyterian Church of Jeffersonville and New Albany.'

"The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was at that time administered, and the following were the members then in communion: Thomas Posey (then Governor) and his wife, James M. Tunstal, John Gibson and his wife, James Scribner, Joel Scribner, Phoebe Scribner, Esther Scribner, (afterwards Mrs. Hale,) and Anna M. Gibson, of whom Thomas Posey and Joel Scribner were afterwards chosen Elders.

"Subsequent to that time Mary Merriwether, the wife of Dr. Merriwether, and Mary Wilson, a widow, were received as members of said church. Since that time Thomas Posey and his wife removed to Vincennes, and united with the church there; and James Tunstal removed to Louisville, and joined the church there. Mary Merriwether, Mary Wilson, and Anna M. Gibson were, at their own request, dismissed from this church to join the church at Louisville.

"Afterwards, to-wit: on the 7th day of December, A. D. 1817, at a meeting of the Union church at New Albany, Rev. D. C. Banks, Moderator, it was—

"Resolved, That as all the members of this church residing at Jeffersonville have withdrawn, and all the present members reside in New Albany, the Union church shall from this time and hereafter be known by the name of the

FIRST-PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF NEW ALBANY.

"At the same time Jacob Marsell and Hannah, his wife, were received as members of this church on a letter from the church in Elizabethtown, New Jersey. Stephen Beers and Lydia, his wife, were also received as members of this church on a letter from the church in Louisville.

"The church then proceeded by ballot to the election of two additional Elders. Jacob Marsell and Stephen Beers were unanimously elected, and accordingly were afterwards ordained as Ruling Elders in the church. The total number of members in communion at the close of the year 1817, was nine.

"The meeting of the church, at the time of its organization, took place in Grandma Scribner's house, being what is now the middle part of the old High Street House—the congregation occupying the parlor and back room.

"There being no communion plate, two large pewter plates belonging to Grandmother Scribner, were used instead for the bread, and being of a fine quality were considered very appropriate.

"The next year, 1818, we had the ministerial labors of Rev. Isaac Reed from perhaps the early part of the summer over one year ensuing. After he left us, the church was vacant for some time. At the end of the year 1818, the number of church members was seventeen; and at the end of the year 1819, they had increased to thirty-two.

"I perceive by reference to the records of the church, that my sister Lucy Maria, with myself and several others, united with the church on the 31st day of October, in the year 1819, that Mrs. Elizabeth Clapp, (then widow Elizabeth Scribner,) joined on the 4th day of September of the same year. At the same time, Sept. 4th, 1819, her infant daughter*

*This was the first baptism that took place in New Albany, we believe.

Lucinda Anna, now Mrs. Shipman, was baptized. Cousin Martha Ann Waring (now Mrs. Gonzales) was baptized on the 28th day of November following.

The Presbyterians, until the winter of 1820, worshipped in the "log school house," which stood upon one of the public square lots, near the site of the present elegant Court House. The church built in 1819-20 was destroyed by fire in 1821. There occurred after 1820 a marked declension in the spiritual condition of the church, and its pastorate was vacant from 1819 until the 16th of November, 1832, when Rev. Ezra H. Day was employed as pastor. From that time to the present this church has prospered, and from it has gone out all the Presbyterian societies in this city and its immediate vicinity.

There are at present in this city twenty church edifices, representing eight religious denominations, as follows: Three Baptist, two Roman Catholic, one Christian, one Episcopal, two Lutheran, seven Methodist, three Presbyterian, and one United Brethren.

EDUCATIONAL.—It is generally conceded that good schools, particularly good public schools, free and open to all, are the proudest monuments that a city can boast of. In this particular New Albany is highly favored. Her citizens, early perceiving the advantages that would result from the establishment of public schools, embarked liberally in the enterprise, and have since sustained them with a generous hand. Until now this city can boast of eight schools, including the "Scribner High School," the cost of the school edifices being over $70,000, having an attendance of 5,555 scholars, and giving employment to thirty-five teachers.

These schools are graded as follows: A and B Primary, A and B Intermediate, A and B Grammar, and the High School. The pupils are commenced with the alphabet in the Primary department, and carried through, by grade, as they progress in their studies, until they graduate in the High School, in all the branches of a common English education, and are made ready to enter as Freshmen in any of our colleges. Of private schools there are, as far as we have been able to ascertain, twelve. Tousley's Academy and Morse's Academy are equal to any private schools in the State. At St. Mary's school, (which has the largest and finest school building in the city, except DePauw College, it being 50x70 and five stories high, and costing $20,000,) pupils are given a thorough scientific course. In several of the other private schools the higher branches are taught. DePauw College is a strictly first class collegiate institute for the education of females, and is probably one of the best female institutions in the State—an honor to New Albany and to the Indiana Conference, under the patronage of which it is established.

The above will demonstrate to every one that there is not a city in the West of equal population, that possesses educational advantages equal to New Albany. In this particular no city in the State has a higher reputation or offers superior inducements to persons desiring to change their place of residence in order to enable them to educate their children. The city is equally celebrated for health, morality, and beauty of location, and when the educational enterprises now contemplated here are carried into successful operation, New Albany will become the most celebrated city in the West or South for its educational institutions.

MANUFACTURES.—Considering the natural advantages of New Albany as a manufacturing point, much more might be done, than is at present, in this line. Manufacturing is that kind of enterprise which, more than all others, is calculated to build up a city, and give something like stability to its prosperity and growth. Trade and commerce may do much towards enriching a community—embellishing a city—and building up a monied aristocracy. But after all, manufacturing enterprise is the only sure element of prosperity and permanent growth. Without this but few cities in this country can hope to grow to any considerable importance. Had more attention been given to manufacturing in New Albany, she would this day have occupied a position far above what she does. Still the people have not been wholly unmindful of their best interests in this respect. In certain classes of manufactures the ground has been well improved, and it has told well upon the prosperity of the city. But her resources in this respect are not yet half developed. Much remains to be done—and if done rightly, cannot fail to result in building up at this point a great manufacturing and commercial city.

We propose to give our readers a brief description of some of the leading manufacturing establishments; to notice all would require too much space. While at the same time we do not wish to do injustice to any, we wish it to be distinctly understood that we are not paid for these notices, and, therefore, our only object is to have the manufacturing interests of this city properly represented.

BOAT BUILDING.—It is not necessary for us to speak of this important branch of trade that has in past years given this city a wide reputation. The excellence of workmanship of New Albany built boats has become in fact proverbial, and the consequence is that her ship-carpenters can always secure the preference of steamboat owners over all their rivals. The best and the fastest Mississippi River palaces were built at this place, and the thousands of passengers they have safely carried can bear testimony as to their excellent qualities. At the present time there are seven firms engaged in this trade, the largest being that of Messrs. D. C. Hill & Co.

NEW ALBANY GLASS WORKS, J. B. Ford & Son, proprietors, were established February, 1867, and occupy six buildings, three of which are brick, the balance being both of brick and wood. The one used in the manufacture of window glass is 65x85; another for cutting the same is 50x154; two buildings, 20x100, one used for warehouse, the other for silvering, or finishing glass plate for mirrors; warehouse, 40x100, and the bottle house, 65x80, which is entirely new. They employ 120 hands and four teams, and consume annually in their year's work (ten months) 165,000 bushels of coal, 500 tons soda ash, 1500 tons sand, 9,000 bushels of lime, 600 barrels of salt. These items do not include the stock used in the manufacture of hollow ware, of which they have but recently begun, and although but a new establishment, have all the facilities that enable them to compete and out-rival older firms further up the river. The value of their manufacture for the current year was $300,000. To such establishments as the above the people of this city may well point with pride; and to such gentlemen as the Messrs. Fords is this city indebted for her future prosperity.

MILLIOAN'S FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP was established and built in 1866 by the present proprietor. The building is of brick, 50x100, three stories high, substantially built, and cost $18,000. At this shop they manufacture all kinds of steam engines, castings, ornamental iron work, and make a speciality of mill work. Mr. M. employs thirty hands, and the amount of finished work made at his works annually is valued at $20,000.

NEW ALBANY FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP, Johnston & Webster, proprietors, was first started in 1855; was burned and rebuilt in 1867, and is used for the manufacture of steam engines, mill machinery, etc. The machine shop is 80x30, while an addition to this is 80x40, and is used for moulding, etc. The blacksmith shop is 30x40. The above named buildings are all two stories high.

The machinery used in this establishment consists of four lathes, one planer, one vertical borer, one drilling machine, one turning lathe; all of which is driven by two steam engines of great power. This firm employ thirty hands.

NATIONAL STOVE FOUNDRY, F. H. Gobmann & Co., proprietors, has been established three years, and has now a fine trade. They manufacture stoves, hollow ware, wagon boxes, etc., etc. Among the many different patterns they manufacture, we might mention the "Original," (three sizes) "Queen of the West," (four sizes) "New Albany," (three sizes) all of which are very popular with the people, while their heating, cannon and box stoves cannot be excelled. Their foundry is 110x120, part of which is two stories high, employ twenty-five hands, and have in use one of "Root's Patent Blowers." Their capacity for the manufacture of stoves is twenty-five per day complete, and use from two to three ton of iron per day.

THE BOILER SHOP OF STUCKY & Co., was built in 1860, and is 130x120, two stories high, and employ fifty hands. This firm manufacture all kinds of boiler, tank, sheet iron, steamboat and mill work. The machinery they employ are two sets of rolls, eight shears, and four punchers, which are run by a steam engine of eighteen horse power. Messrs. S. & Co., make a speciality of boilers and iron furnaces, and the amount they manufacture yearly is about $100,000.

AMERICAN FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP, D. C. Hill & Co., proprietors, have been established fifteen years, and are well and favorably known, especially by those who have had at any time an interest in the river trade. Their machine shop is 60x100; foundry, 100x100, both having the latest improvements. Messrs. Hill & Co. are also known as one of the largest boat-building firms on the river; and have in connection with the above two saw-mills, ship-yard, etc., where they have and are at all times ready to contract for river craft of any size or kind complete. They also make a speciality of heavy castings, steamboat and stationary engines and mill work. They employ one hundred and fifty hands, and their receipts are about $200,000 per year.

THE MOROCCO FACTORY of T. & A. Hopkins, is the only one of the kind in this vicinity, and has been established four years. Their building is 75x60, two and a half stories high, employ nine hands, and tan 20,000 sheep pelts annually, 100 calf skins per month, and 100 hog skins per week. The tannery is supplied with all conveniences. The specialty of this firm is fancy colored wool mats, they being the only firm west of New York engaged in this line, and from samples shown us, we think they are equal if not better than those purchased in the East, while the quality of their morocco, finished calf, and other leather, is not surpassed by any similar manufactory in the country.

THE TANNERY of Theodore Day is one of the largest and best arranged in this vicinity, and having been established since 1839, is consequently well known. The building is 180x120, two stories high, with a large basement; employ twelve hands, and has capacity for tanning 5,000 hides per year into the best of harness leather, which is the speciality of this firm.

ELIZABETH TANNERY, H. F. Reinaking, proprietor, is located at Elizabeth, Harrison county, fifteen miles south-west of this city, and three and a half miles from the Ohio River, while the finishing is done in this city. It was established in 1835, have twenty-seven vats, and has a capacity to tan 2,500 hides per year; employ six hands. The sales room of this establishment is at 139 State street.

THE TANNERY of A. Barth & Co., has been in operation five years; building is 35x50; have 40 vats, and manufacture upper, calf, kip, skirting and bridle leather. They have capacity to tan 2,000 hides per year.

MAIN STREET BREWERY, Martin Kalen, proprietor, has been in operation eighteen years, and has been owned and managed by the present proprietor for six years. The building is 40x60, two-stories high, has two capacious cellars 30x35, together with all the necessary tubs, vats, etc., is run by horse-power, employs five men, and has a capacity of three hundred barrels per month.

MARRET STREET BREWERY, Peter Buchheit, proprietor, has been established about twelve years, and occupies three buildings—30x60, 30x60, 18x60—all three stories high, has all the latest improvements in tubs, vats, etc., and uses steam, employs four hands, and has capacity for brewing three hundred barrels per month.

CITY BREWERY, P. Reising, proprietor, is one of the oldest and largest firms in this line in the city, having been established over twelve years, and at present location eight years. The building is 115x50, two stories high, and complete in all respects. There is, also, a beer cellar 40x18, with ice-house above; malt cellar 40x50, and three other cellars of capacious size. The mash tubs, etc., are run by an eight-horse power engine. Mr. R. employs five men, and has capacity to manufacture thirty barrels beer per day.

NEW ALBANY VINEGAR WORKS, of H. E. Wagner & Co., have been in operation for nine years, and occupies three buildings—20x40, 20x30, 36x48—with a large cellar. The machinery is run by a twelve horse power engine, employs three hands, and has capacity for the manufacture of fifty barrels. This is the only establishment of the kind in this or adjoining counties.

PHOENIX FLOUR MILLS, Lee & Hoyle, proprietors, started business in 1948. Their building is 80x80, four stories high; they use four set of tone, which are run by an engine of fourteen-inch cylinder, employ six men, and have capacity to manufacture two hundred barrels of flour per day.

CITY MILLS, P. Mann, proprietor, was established in 1856. The building is 40x120, three stories high, with a good cellar, employs seven men, have three run of stone, and have capacity for the manufacture of two hundred barrels of flour per day, which is mostly sold at home. The amount of grain used by this mill averages about 13,000 bushels per year.

STATE STREET MILLS, of J. F. Leyden & Co., are unquestionably the best in the State. It was built in 1847 at a cost of $75,000, is 80x120, and three and a half stories high, and complete in all its appointments. This mill has four run of stone, and is supplied with the latest improvements in mill machinery, and have the capacity of making two hundred and fifty barrels of flour per day, most of which is shipped to Boston, Mass., where their brands are well and favorably known, as they use no other than No. 1 wheat in their manufacture.

PARK PLANING MILL, Cobb & Cooper, proprietors, have been in operation since January, 1868, for the manufacture of sash, doors, and blinds, and mill work generally. The two buildings they occupy are 32x100, three stories high, and 40x60, two stories. The machinery they have in use are two planers, eight saws (all kinds), one moulding, one mortising, one tenoning, one sticking, one sash, and one sash sticking machine, and two lathes, the whole run by an engine of 10x16-inch stroke. They employ twenty-five hands, and have capacity to turn out $1,500 worth of finished work per week.

NEW ALBANY PLANING MILL, Howard & Co., proprietors, are too well known to the public to require much notice from us. Their mill is of brick, and have in use all of the latest improved machines, and are prepared to do anything in their line with despatch.

OAK STREET PLANING MILL, P. Gebertshan, proprietor, occupies a building 60x120, two stories high, have in use four saws, one sticker, one tenoning, and one dove-tail machine, which is run by a twenty-four horse power engine, employ twenty-four hands, and make all kinds of building material, in the manufacture of which he uses 10,000 feet of lumber weekly.

NEW ALBANY BOX FACTORY, James Peirce, proprietor, was established in 1845 for the manufacture of tobacco moulds and boxes, and custom work generally. The building is 60x80, two stories high, and the machinery in use consists of one planer, one traverser, three set of saws, boring and mortising machines, run by an eight-horse power engine, employs twelve men, and use annually 100,000 ft of sugar tree, sycamore, poplar, and oak lumber in the manufacture of tobacco boxes alone. Sales about $1,200 per month.

NEW ALBANY PATTERN SHOP, Messrs. Sleeper, Moore & Morton, proprietors, have been established nearly three years, and in their line enjoy a reputation second to none in this part of the country. Besides pattern and model making, they make a specialty of making drawings for all kinds of mill machinery, architecture, &c., &c.

NEW ALBANY POTTERY, William Keller, proprietor, occupies two buildings, which were erected in 1846, and are 22x40 and 20x50, two stories high, and built of brick; employ eight men. Mr. K.'s sales attest a wide reputation through this and the country below for manufacturing a superior article of water pipes, stoneware, flower pots, &c., &c. Eighty thousand gallons of earthen ware are manufactured at this place yearly, while the yearly sales amount to over $9,000.

NEW ALBANY WOOLEN MILLS, J. F. Gebhart & Co., proprietors, have been in operation for the past seven years. The building is built of brick, and is 50x120, three stories high. This mill is complete in all particulars. The machinery in use cost $35,000, is driven by a twenty-five horse power engine. Messrs. G. & Co. give employment to forty-five hands, and have capacity to turn out five hundred yards of finished work per day, or 150,000 yards yearly of flannels, jeans, blankets, &c. Their yearly sales are $20,000.

McCord & Bradley Woollen Company have a fine mill on Upper Vincennes, near Beeler street. This Company was incorporated and building erected in 1867. The mill is 180x65, with an addition 30x40, both being three stories in height; cost of building and machinery, $100,000. It contains five full sets of machinery, and has capacity for the manufacture of 1,000 yards per day. The goods turned out consists of flannels, blankets, cassimeres, jeans, yarns, &c.

NEW ALBANY GLUE WORKS, Simon Ruoff, proprietor, have been in operation 14 years. The building is 40x42, one story high. This is the only factory of the kind in this part of the country. The yearly manufacture of this house is 6,000 pounds, which is mostly sold at home.

A. DANZ' Soap and Candle Factory was built of brick, in 1863, and is 90x40, 1½ stories high, with an addition 40x60. It contains six candle machines, fourteen lard presses, and nine lard kettles. Value of manufacturers the past year, $40,000.

NEW ALBANY TOBACCO WORKS of W. D. Morris, commenced business in 1859; is 20x120, three stories high, built of brick, employ twenty-five hands, use nine hand presses and manufacture exclusively plug tobacco, their favorite brand being the celebrated "Sallie Partington," of which they manufactured last year, 116,000 pounds; sales during the same period, $75,000.

J. H. DEXTER'S Brass Foundry and Finishing-Shop has been established since 1852. He employs three hands, and turns out $10,000 worth of work yearly.

THE MARBLE WORKS of J. BROWN was established in 1857. He employs six hands, uses about $1,500 worth of American marble per year, and has capacity to turn out $50,000 worth of finished work per year. Sales last year, $7,000.

SOULE SHINGLE MILLS, John R. Daily, proprietor, is located on Upper Fourteenth, corner of Water streets. This mill was established in 1861, and is 30x92, two stories high, and built at a cost of $1,500. The capacity of this mill is 50 m per day, while the yearly manufacture amounts to 15,000 m, in which is used 2,106 m of timber. The machinery in use consists of two circular, one cross-cut or drag saw, one splitting machine, and one of Soule & Daily's Shingle Cutters, having a capacity of 10 m shingles per hour. The machinery is driven by two steam engines, one being ten horse power, the other (upright) being three horse, and used to run the shingle cutter. This firm employs eight hands.

FRANK & REID, manufacturers of Plastic Slate Flour, have a mill 40x50, four stories high, which was built expressly for this business. The machinery, which consists of three sets of ordinary mill stone, is run by an engine of three feet stroke, and have capacity to grind eight tons of cement per day, which has an average value of $18 per ton. Although a new branch of manufacture, having only been established since 1861, this firm employs twenty hands, and has a reputation second to none in this business, either as regards the superiority of manufacture, or the quality of roofing they apply to houses.

NEW ALBANY OH. STONE WORKS, Wm. Galbraith & Co., proprietors, was built June, 1855, and is 50x60, one and a half stories high. This factory is one of the four located in the United States, and is the largest. The machinery employed consists of two gangs, containing forty four saws, and two finishing wheels, which are driven by a forty horse power engine. This firm use stock obtained from the famous Hot Springs, Arkansas; and from private letters shown us, have no reason to doubt that this firm orders and works as much stone from this quarry, as the other three combined. Messrs. G. & Co. employ ten hands, and use 100,000 lbs. of stone annually, while their sales amount to $10,000 per year.

DR. F. A. MITCHELL & Co. are the proprietors of Dr. F. A. Mitchell's medicines, and although it has not been our province to test them, we can say upon the authority of the old citizens, that his "Ague Cure" is unequalled, and that his "San-Gento Bitters" are duly sanctioned by regular physicians. This firm employs twelve hands, and manufacture a great amount of both medicines, and consumes annually about $10,000 worth of stock. For full particulars see their card.

Besides the above mentioned firms, we might mention (had space permitted) the OHIO FALLS ROLLING MILLS; NEW ALBANY ROLLING MILLS, of J. BRADON & Co.; the MARBLE WORKS, of Geo. JENNINGS; the Stave and Lath Mill, of KEILER & DANIELS; the Furniture Manufactory, of J. SHRAEDER & SONS; the Tobacco Factory, of SEB. PERINO & Co.; L. N. A. & C. R. R. SHOPS; MARSH'S FLOOR WORKS; SOUTHWESTERN NEWSRIERS; NEW ALBANY NEWSRIER, and others; also the many wholesale houses doing business in this city, but we find the task too large for us to go through in this edition; and in conclusion subjoin the following tables, showing in a measure what New Albany is, and giving hints to the sagacious of what she will be:

TOWNSHIPS.*

GREENVILLE TOWNSHIP is situated in the northwest corner of the county. The first settlement was made in 1808, by John D. Daniel, David Irwin, Daniel Stout, Benjamin Boston, William Ferguson, J. Davis, — Stroud, John Clark, J. & W. Brown, Jacob Garrison, Adam Smith, Robert Raney, and others. There are five churches—one Methodist, one Presbyterian, two Christian, and one United Brethren, located in the township.

GREENVILLE VILLAGE (P. O.) is situated near the centre of this township, and has a population of about 500. This village was laid out and platted in 1818, by Benjamin Hains and Andrew Mudge. The first settlers of the place were J. Woodfill, Isaac Stewart, D. P. & J. R. Porter, James Gragg, Dr. James Hayden, and James McKown. The first store was opened under the auspices of Benjamin Hains, as was also the first flour mill, which was run by horse power. The first steam mill was built by R. Smith, in 1834; the first church (Methodist) in 1837, and the first school in 1830, while the first farm opened in the township was that which is known as the "Stroud Farm." This village now contains seven general stores, one tailor, five shoemakers, four blacksmiths, one flour mill (Hoosier Mill, Keithley & Brown, proprietors, which has capacity of forty barrels per day), three physicians, one druggist, one undertaker, one lawyer, one insurance agent, one cigar maker, one carpenter, one cabinet maker, one hotel, one meat market, two saw mills, two wood turners, one harness shop, one saloon, thirteen coopers, 3 churches (Methodist, Presbyterian, and Christian), and several good schools.

GALENA P. O. is a small village also located in this township, southeast from Greenville, and contains one saw mill, one flour mill, two general stores, one milliner, one blacksmith, one wagon maker, one shoemaker, one saloon, and one brick yard.

GEORGETOWN TOWNSHIP is bounded north by Greenville, east by New Albany, Lafayette and Franklin townships, south by Franklin and Harrison counties, and west by Harrison county. The first settlement was made here in the year 1805, by Patrick and James Shields, Joseph and Levi Burton, the Nance's, and Win. Shaw, who settled on Indian Creek. The first death occurring in the township was that of William Shaw. The business of the township consists of one tannery, one saw mill, two distilleries, and two coopers, while seven churches and several schools constitute its religious and educational advantages.

GEORGETOWN P. O. is a small village in the western part of the township, and contains three churches (Methodist, Christian, and United Brethren), three saw mills, one pottery, two physicians, one general store, one lumber dealer, one shingle maker, five shoemakers, one flour mill, six coopers, five blacksmiths, two grocers, one hotel, four carpenters, two undertakers. Population, 250.

EDWARDSVILLE P. O. is a small village of about 150 population, located in the eastern part of this township, and contains one dry goods store, five grocers, three general stores, one cooper, one blacksmith, one wagon maker, two lime kilns, and one nursery.

LA FAYETTE TOWNSHIP is bounded north by Clark county, east by New Albany, south by New Albany and Georgetown, and west by Greenville townships. The villages in this township are:

MOORESVILLE (Floyd's Knobs P. O.), in the southeastern part, and contains two churches—Catholic and Christian, one dry goods, one grocery, and two general stores, three blacksmiths, four coopers, two wagon makers, two shoemakers, one veterinary surgeon, two physicians and one nursery. Population about 200.

SCOTTSVILLE (P. O.), in the northwestern part, is a small village of about 100 inhabitants, and contains two general stores, one saloon, one blacksmith, one shingle maker, one wagon maker and a number of coopers.

In the township there are six churches and a number of schools; eight blacksmiths, and a number of coopering establishments constitute its business.

FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP is the southern boundary of the county, and is purely an agricultural district. There are no villages, and its business consists of one rope manufactory, two shingle makers, four coopers, two tailors and one stock dealer. As it may be of use to our readers, we append the following list of

Colleges and Seminaries.

DePauw College (for young ladies.) This institution, heretofore known as the Indiana Asbury Female College, (and now bearing its name in honor of the liberality of W. C. DePauw, Esq.) was opened under its collegiate organization, February, 1852. By the close of its tenth year, forty-eight young ladies had been enrolled on its list of graduates. Unfortunately its heavy indebtedness impeded its progress, prevented its success, and even threatened its existence as an institution of learning, and finally resulted in a transfer of the property to other owners. The College property, having been repurchased by the energy and liberality of its friends, was offered free from debt, to the Indian Conference of the M. E. Church, in 1866, and was accepted and adopted by said Conference, as their institution. Six or seven thousand dollars additional were raised by Centenary contributions for the College, and expended in improving, beautifying, and furnishing the College Building.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF THE CELEBRATED

SEWING MACHINE,*Making Four Different Stitches.J. W. SMITH, General Agent,*No. 27 North Pennsylvania St.,

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

WHILE a large number of Machines have been offered to the public, some of which possess points of excellence and acknowledged merit, we have long felt what others have experienced, the necessity of a Machine more perfect in its mechanical structure, combining in the highest degree, simplicity, with durability, and while capable of doing a greater range of work, one that could be easily understood and comprehended by all.

To supply a Sewing Machine free from the objections attaching to others, has been no easy task; for we had not only to surpass other Machines, as they appeared years ago, but also as improved from time to time by more recent experience.

This, we boldly claim, has been accomplished by the liberal expenditure of capital, and the patient untiring labor for years; and in presenting our Machine to the public, we shall make some strong assertions respecting its merits, which to the casual observer, may seem to savor of improbability, but we are prepared to substantiate them in every particular.

Discarding the Chain or Loop, or knit stitches, we adopted the Lock Stitch (alike on both sides of the fabric,) which is regarded by the masses as best suited to all kinds of work. But to meet the objections sometimes raised against this favorite stitch, viz: want of elasticity, liability to ravel, especially at the end of the seams, requiring them to be fastened or tied by hand, and the want of strength for a certain class of seams, such as the bias, or inside seams of pants, we have added the Knot, Double Lock and Double Knot, either which is stronger and more elastic than the Lock; thus enabling the operator to select a stitch perfectly suited to every grade of fabric, and where necessary, sew seams much stronger than it is possible to do by hand.

Adding the three stitches would seem to require a complication of machinery, and thus render the Machine impracticable; but such is not the fact. It makes the four stitches with as much ease and facility as ordinary Machines make one, and with as little, if not less machinery.

To obtain unbiased and reliable evidence of their utility we placed them in manufactories and families where a thorough and severe test would expose any weak points. The result of these trials have been all that we could desire; and from its first introduction the Florence has gained host of friends, and been regarded as a household necessity; conclusively proving, what we are most happy to acknowledge, that the public fully appreciate the utility, beauty, and durability combined in the Florence Machine.

We claim for the Florence the following advantages over any and all Sewing Machines—

It makes four different stitches, the lock, knot, double lock, and double knot, on one and the same Machine, each stitch being alike on both sides of the fabric.

Every Machine has the reversible feed motion, which enables the operator, by simply turning a thumb screw, to have the work run either to the right or left, to stay any part of the seam, or fasten the ends of seams without turning the fabric.

Changing the length of stitch, and from one kind of stitch to another, can readily be done while the Machine is in motion.

The needle is more easily adjusted than any other Machine. It is almost invisible and can be used where quiet is necessary.

Its motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order, and its simplicity enables the most inexperienced to operate it.

It does not require finer thread on the under side than it does for the upper, and will sew across the broadest seam, or from one to more thicknesses of cloth, without change of tension or breaking of thread.

Every Machine has one of Jant's Patent Sewers attached (the right to use which we control,) enabling the operator to turn any width of hem desired.

No other Machine will do so large a range of work as the Florence. It sews, folds, cords, gathers, binds, quilts, and gathers and sews on a collar at the same time.

The taking up of the slack thread is not performed by the irregular contrivances of a wire coil or uncertain operation of wire levers. The precision and accuracy with which the Florence draws the thread into the cloth is unsurpassed by any other Sewing Machine offered in the market.

To avoid the expense of the operator, clear application, and following are heretofore necessary on a large proportion of work done on Sewing Machines, we now furnish each Machine with Jant's Self-Sewer, which guides the work itself, and is of inestimable value, especially to inexperienced operators.

It is fully protected and licensed by Elias Howe, Jr., and his associates, and our own Letters Patent.

While possessing the above, and many other advantages, the Florence is sold at correspondingly prices with other first-class Machines, and a careful examination of its merits will fully substantiate all that we have claimed for it, and finally the assertion that we now make, that it is the best Sewing Machine in the world.

We warrant every Machine to do all we claim for it, and will give a refund or repair if required.

Liberal arrangements made with those who buy to sell again. Further information may be had by addressing with stamp enclosed.

Great Central Route.

MICHIGAN CENTRAL RAILROAD.

BETWEEN

DETROIT and CHICAGO,

284 MILES.

THE ONLY DIRECT ROUTE TO NIAGARA FALLS.

Is one of the connecting links in the direct and shortest line of rail communication between the Atlantic Seaboard, the Mississippi and the Northwest; and, with its connections, forming a through route unequalled for SPEED, SAFETY and COMFORT.

EASTERN CONNECTIONS.

AT DETROIT with the GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY, for London, Hamilton, Toronto, Suspension Bridge, Niagara Falls, Albany, New York, Boston, etc., etc. With the BUFFALO AND LAKE HURON RAILWAY, for Buffalo. With the GRAND TRUNK for Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, etc., and thence by rail connection to all the principal intermediate and Seaboard Cities in the States and Canada.

WESTERN CONNECTIONS.

AT MICHIGAN CITY with the NEW ALBANY AND SALEM RAILROAD, to New Albany, Louisville, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, etc., forming the SHORTEST route between Chicago and all the Cities named, the travel being accommodated by Two Express Trains Daily each way. NO CHANGE of PASSENGERS or BAGGAGE.

AT CHICAGO, (at the GREAT CENTRAL DEPOT, with the advantage of transfer of Passengers and Baggage within the same building,) with the ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD, to all Central and Southern Illinois, Cairo and Lower Mississippi points.

With the CHICAGO, DURLINGTON & QUINCY RAILROAD, to Galena, Burlington and Quincy, and thence by the Burlington and Missouri Road to Southern Iowa, Council Bluffs, Omaha City; and with the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad to St. Joseph, Leavenworth, Lawrence, Kansas City, etc.

Also, convenient connection with the GALENA & CHICAGO UNION, the CHICAGO & MILWAUKEE, the CHICAGO & NORTHWESTERN, the CHICAGO & ROCK ISLAND, and the ST. LOUIS & CHICAGO RAILROADS.
